

Silent Auction Monday, October 16

Have some plants looking for a good home? ~ bring to our Silent Auction ~ perennials, indoor plants, grasses, garden items. It's a fun event and most items start at $1.

Attracting Different Birds to Your Yard

Attracting birds to your yard is one of North America's most popular hobbies.

Kristen Martyn of Wild Birds Unlimited discusses how to attract different backyard birds and other wildlife. A must attend for anyone who currently feeds birds or is interested in making their outdoor space wildlife friendly.

Tonight We Welcome
Joanne Mohan,
Sustainable
Landscape Designer

Joanne considers the use of plants as an important aesthetic to a garden and encourages the use of native and naturalized planting schemes to ensure a balance with the ecology and environment of the garden.

As a therapeutic horticultural practitioner, Joanne understands the value of plants and gardens and how they can mentally, physically and socially benefit us all. Joanne encourages everyone to engage with plants and acknowledges that even a small container with one or two plants can provide therapeutic value in our daily lives. In 2011, Joanne joined Parklane Landscapes as a Landscape Designer.

Members Enjoying Member's Gardens:

We are our best students and teachers. Throughout the summer we toured GBGC member's gardens. Such excitingly different gardens!

A big thank you to Dorothy and Keith Shier for sharing their love of trees, perennials & scree gardens all in a rural setting.

And to Denise and Terry Sheedy for sharing their unique & imaginative designs utilizing stone, weathered wood, rusty metal & even a repurposed hot tub!

Members Enjoying Member's Gardens:

And to Lynne and Ralph Davidson for sharing their relaxed lakefront setting bursting with brilliant colour and variety.
